Dear Danielle Langer,

I am excited to apply for the intern position with your team. As an aspiring journalist, storytelling is much more than a hobby; it's a way to discover new perspectives, connect with communities, and share their stories. With a passion for exploring new places, uncovering inspiring stories, and bringing them to life, I am ready to take the next step toward achieving my goals in journalism.

Journalistic writing was not always something I envisioned as a central part of my life. However, after putting myself out there with blog posts and journalistic articles, I grew comfortable with the unfamiliar and began to appreciate the unique perspectives that places offer. I have found that storytelling can be found anywhere, whether in famous landmarks or in the voices of diverse communities and cultures. These broad experiences have shown me how journalistic media can inspire curiosity and understanding. This internship is the perfect opportunity to grow my skills while contributing engaging and thoughtful stories to the readers of your organization. There is always a story waiting to be discovered, whether in a well-known destination or a hidden corner, and I am eager to seek them out and share them with your audience.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to contribute my skills and enthusiasm to your team while gaining valuable experience in the field of travel journalism. I look forward to discussing how I can support your team's mission.
